LOCATION

The Hotel Bernini Palace in Florence is situated in a 15th century building in the heart of the city, behind Piazza della Signoria and the Uffizi Gallery. It is also just six minutes from Via Tornabuoni, the most famous shopping street, and approximately one hour away by car, it is possible to reach outlets for major Italian labels such as Prada and Gucci. Overlooking the Palazzo Vecchio, a few steps from the banks of the Arno, the Hotel was a protagonist of the events that transformed Florence, into the capital of the Kingdom of Italy, from 1865 to 1870. Attended by the Parliament members, it was at the center of national political intrigue: that era is now represented by round frescoes that adorn the current Hall of Breakfast. All the rooms in the hotel are spacious, sumptuously furnished with magnificent antiques, parquet floor, fitted with all modern conveniences and free wi-fi. The rooms located in the Tuscan Floor are in renaissance style: the ceilings with their wooden beams, four-poster beds, period decoration, precious textiles and magnificent tapestries all help to create a truly unique atmosphere. The Chiostrina, the new hotel's Restaurant, offers a menu of exquisite, innovative regional dishes.

MEETING ROOMS

The Hotel Bernini Palace in Florence is today one of the most exclusive locations in the city, the preferred destination for work meetings and company conferences. It has an entirely refurbished meeting room: the Sala Corsini, with its natural light, can host up to 40 people. An evocative location for banquets and events is the imposing Sala Parlamento, entirely frescoed and once the meeting place for members of Parliament and Senators when Florence was the capital of Italy.
